

PLANTS REOPEN; THOUSANDS OF WORKERS RETURN

DETROIT AUTOMOBILE FACTORIES RENEW PARTIAL OPERATIONS, EMPLOYING 12,000

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 5.—Several of Detroit's plants reopened Monday on a part time basis and about 12,000 men were re-employed. Other motor car manufacturers contemplate reopening immediately after the New York auto show when they can begin construction of models which won favor there with prospective buyers.

The Packard plant that has been closed since the middle of December, reopened with a working force of 3,000 men. Additional workers will be employed from day to day as official announced.

The Cadillac Motor Car company began business today with 1,500 employees after a two weeks' shutdown. More than 500 men returned to work at the Studebaker corporation plant No. 5. An official of the employment department stated that additional men will be hired from day to day.

About 200 men were re-employed at the Paige Detroit company and the same number will be added to the working force each day this week. More than 150 men were added to the shop force of the Lincoln Motor company last week and several hundred more old employees will be rehired this week. Chalmers plant officials say that 300 men have been employed to begin work next Monday.

At the Columbia motor plant about 12 per cent of the total working force of 600 men is working.

Clothing and Shoe Plants Reopen
Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 5.—With the volume of orders for the spring trade steadily growing larger, Rochester's clothing and shoe factories, employing together, about 14,000 workers, are gradually taking back their normal force of employees. The president of the Rochester Clothiers' exchange predicted today that within two weeks all the clothing factories would be running with a full force.

TONNAGE TAX BILL INTRODUCED

PROVIDES FOR EIGHT PER CENT. ON NET VALUE OF ORE IN LIEU OF OTHER TAXES

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—Senator A. J. Carley, of Plainview, said he will introduce a tonnage tax bill Thursday. His measure will provide for an eight per cent levy on ore after royalty payments have been deducted. It is presumably the same bill that was introduced in the house by Rep. C. M. Bendixon, of Morgan, author of the tonnage tax bill vetoed by Governor Burnquist in 1918.

The bill introduced today provides for an eight per cent tax on the net value of ore in lieu of all other taxes. The former bill provided for a five per cent tax in addition to other state levies.

There are several other tonnage tax measures to be introduced. Rep. A. C. Welch, of Glencoe, has the nonpartisan league bill providing for ten per cent on net ore value.

Among other measures introduced today in the house were:

Provision for a guarantee on bank deposits; revival of the political conventions; landlords to be prohibited from collecting rent for flats where proper heat is not furnished; decrease of personal property tax and increase of tax on unimproved land; permission for legislators to accept passes on certain railroads.

ATTEMPT MADE TO WRECK TRAIN

POSSE LED BY BLOODHOUNDS MAKE EFFORT TO CAPTURE CULPRITS

(By United Press)

Rome, Ga., Jan. 5.—A posse, led by bloodhounds, today searched swamps around Elbe in an effort to capture the persons alleged to have made a deliberate attempt to wreck Train No. 3, Ohio Special, south bound, on the Southern railroad here late last night.

The heavy train with two engines and thirteen coaches loaded with northern tourists enroute to Florida, running an hour late, was prevented from plunging over a trestle into the Etowah river through the alertness of Engineer H. F. Hicks on the forward engine.

May Not Receive Crowder Officially

(By United Press)

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 5.—General Enoch Crowder may not be received officially by President Menocal, according to the newspaper "Lanoché," because the Cuban government was not advised through the customary diplomatic channels of the general's mission.

PREUS INAUGURATED GOVERNOR OF STATE

HE DELIVERS MESSAGE TO BOTH HOUSES AND LARGE ASSEMBLY BLAZE OF PEOPLE

ADVOCATES TONNAGE TAX, GOOD ROADS, ECONOMY, AND PRI- MARY LAW CHANGE

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—Governor J. A. O. Preus, assuming office at 11:20 A. M. today, asked the Minnesota legislature to reform election laws, enact tonnage tax laws, boost good roads and co-operative marketing, and practice economy in state government.

The biggest items of his program are most likely to cause an extended discussion in the legislature, are "just and equitable tonnage tax and co-operative marketing laws."

Governor Preus took the oath of office before the assembled houses and a throng admitted by tickets. Governor Burnquist escorted his successor to the chamber, and spoke briefly in his behalf. Chief Justice Calvin L. Brown, of the supreme court, administered the oath of office, and Preus proceeded at once with his speech, one of the most concise ever given to the Minnesota legislature and covered probably the most important legislation than any prior message.

Governor Preus advocated:

Change in the primary laws to safeguard the integrity of political conventions and consideration of the question of electing legislators on party tickets or continuation of the present method of election without party designation.

Enactment of co-operative marketing laws.

Passage of a fair and equitable tonnage tax on iron ore.

Legislation to carry out effectively and economically the provision of the Babcock good roads amendment and other highway improvements.

Amendment of the soldier bonus law so that certificates of indebtedness can be sold immediately and money raised to pay bonuses.

Just and intelligent consideration of the proposed measure effecting labor and industries.

Provision for clearing cutover lands and a settlement by immigrants.

Reorganization of the state government abolishing unnecessary boards and commissions with a view to economy and efficiency.

Creation of a public domain department to look after state resources and make the state auditor's office simply an auditing department.

Creation of a state budget manager to be appointed by the governor.

Reduction of taxation burdens.

Limitation on appropriations to sums absolutely necessary for efficient administration of public affairs.

Governor Preus reviewed at length the tonnage tax and mineral property tax question.

He declared the present primary laws defective.

No Appointments Today

No appointments will be announced today, Governor J. A. O. Preus declared after his inauguration. There was a persistent rumor that Jay Gould, secretary of the republican central committee, would be named the governor's private secretary.

Stop Custom of Suspending Rules to Pass Legislation

(United Press)

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—The house rules committee today took steps to prevent the passage of the bill to suspend all rules. This will be recommended in an effort to stop railroadings of bills through the house. The rules committee probably will report tomorrow.

BRITISH TROOPS USE SMOKE BARRAGE TO ROUT SINN FEIN

SO CONFUSES ENEMY THAT THEY ARE ROUNDED UP AND CAPTURED

(United Press)

Dublin, Jan. 5.—Crown forces won a big advance in two attacks upon the Sinn Fein, according to reports here today. For the first time they employed a smoke barrage in ambushing a military party and so confused the Sinn Fein that the entire attacking party was either killed or captured. The raid occurred at Kanturk.

The city of Cork meanwhile was breathless fearing reprisals for Sinn Fein attacks on a party of police as they were crossing the Parnell bridge. Six police were wounded and an equal number of civilians were injured in prompt rifle and machine gun fire of officers from a nearby police station.

Reports of the Kanturk ambushing reaching Dublin said three military lorries were proceeding from Malrow when Sinn Feiners arose from the brush and bombed the first machine. The bomb missed. Rifles began to crack both from the road and from the cars. The soldiers tossed smoke bombs about them. The Sinn Feiners were confused by the dense fumes. The soldiers detoured and rounded up the entire party after several had been killed.

16 SINN FEINERS REPORTED KILLED

AFTER AMBUSHING A MILITARY PATROL—BOMBS WOUND POLI- CEMAN IN CORK

(By United Press)

Dublin, Jan. 5.—Sixteen Sinn Feiners were killed near Kanturk after ambushing a military patrol, it was reported today. Other members of the party were captured and soldiers escaped injury.

Fire broke out in Cork when a bomb was tossed into a group of policemen who were wounded by the explosion. The officers replied with machine gun fire toppling one of the attackers.

Borah Urges Disarm- ament Resolution

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 5.—Senator Borah today urged the senate foreign relations committee to report favorably on his disarmament resolution. The committee took up the measure for the second time at the request of Senator Hitchcock. The committee gave a hearing to Senator Walsh of Montana, author of the resolution, requesting President Wilson to send an American representative to the league of nations disarmament commission.

Action Postponed

Action on the Borah disarmament resolution again was postponed today by the senate foreign relations committee. The committee adjourned to some unfixed date after listening to a presentation of all disarmament questions by Senator Walsh of Montana.

COURT THREATENS STOCKYARD SEIZURE

PACKERS WARNED TO DISPOSE OF INTERESTS WITHIN REA- SONABLE TIME

Washington, Jan. 5.—Justice Stafford in the District of Columbia supreme court today rejected plans proposed by big meat packers for disposing of their stockyard interests. Stafford also warned the packers that unless they sell their stockyard holdings within a reasonable time, the court will take over the properties and operate them until the sale is completed. Government attorneys declared the decision was a "signal victory."

The ruling was handed down in connection with the agreement between the packers and Attorney General Palmer for a voluntary injunction to prevent the packers engaging in business not directly related to the packing industry.

The packers asked to be allowed to turn their stockyards over to a Boston syndicate. The government opposed this proposal on the ground that the proposal itself violated the anti-trust laws.

Following Stafford's ruling the department of justice gave out a statement which read in part:

"The department regards as the most important part of this decision the announcement that the court has and will exercise the power of taking control of this property and selling it through its own trustees if the packers should fail to present a suitable plan within the time allowed."

"This decision means that the decree entered with the consent of the packers has real force and that the packers must obey it in every respect."

The next move in the controversy is up to the packers who now must submit new plans for selling all their stockyard holdings in such a way that they will not come into control of a single group of interests.

CONGRESS BEGINS CONSIDERATION OF TARIFF LEGISLATION

(United Press)

Washington, Jan. 5.—With need for emergency legislation apparently passed, the house and senate committees today turned to prepare for permanent review of the tax and tariff laws. Republican leaders want to start such legislation now so that it can be well under way for the special session in the spring.

The house ways and means committee will begin tomorrow consideration of the tariff matter. At the tax hearing today H. B. Sawyer, of Boston, appeared on behalf of the Treadway bill proposing a tax of one-fourth of one per cent on bank deposits. He said the tax would raise $1,750,000,000 a year.

Position of U. S. in German Disarmament Considered

(United Press)

Washington, Jan. 5.—The United States, it was learned today, will consider action which will define this country's attitude toward French insistence that Germany strictly fulfill the disarmament term of the Spa treaty. It developed that the subject had been discussed yesterday when Acting Secretary of State Davis called on President Wilson, and was also touched upon later at the cabinet meeting.

WOMAN DESCRIBES MURDER OF HUSBAND

BOLSHEVIKI URGE NEW TERROR REIGN

WORLD STRIKES ASKED BY LENI- NE TO PREVENT NATIONS FROM INJURING RUSSIA

Washington, Jan. 4.—A new policy of terror abroad, especially in nearby countries, has been decided upon by the Russian soviet, according to official advices from Moscow received by the government.

Nikolai Lenin is quoted as saying in a proclamation to the commune committees of Europe that "it is absolutely indispensable to keep the bourgeois enemy busy with internal trouble so they cannot injure soviet Russia."

"Great strikes should be organized throughout the world," the proclamation says, "and agitation for the establishment of commercial relations with Russia should be increased. In order to fight famine and attack capitalism solidly throughout the universe, these things should be done."

Belgrade, Jan. 4.—In a clash between communists and police, nearly 200 communists and a dozen police were wounded. The mob stoned the police, trying to suppress demonstrations in front of the communists' hall. The police drew their bayonets.

BOLSHEVIK DRIVE INTO ROUMANIA

IS PLANNED BY THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT ACCORDING TO MILITARY EXPERTS

(By United Press)

Paris, Jan. 5.—The Russian government is planning a spring drive into Roumania and Galicia, according to military experts here today.

Recent developments along the western front of Russia convinced critics that the soviet armies will drive into the territories when weather permits.

A new European war with various nations dragging and toppling one another into the fight, was seen as a possible consequence.

Provide For State Ownership of Warehouses

(United Press)

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 5.—A bill patterned, to a certain extent, after a law adopted by the North Dakota nonpartisan league legislature, providing for state ownership and operation of warehouses, will be introduced in the eighth Oklahoma legislature now in session here, it was learned today. The bill is sponsored by the farmer union and the state board of agriculture.

An appropriation of two million dollars to be used to erect the warehouses is asked for in the bill. Other features of the bill have not been definitely decided upon.

PLANS FOR REVIVING WAR FINANCE COR- PORATION TAKEN UP

WEEKS MAY ELAPSE BEFORE MONEY BECOMES AVAILABLE FOR LOANING

(United Press)

Washington, Jan. 5.—Plans for reviving the war finance corporation as directed by congress in a resolution over the president's veto, will be taken up by the corporation directors probably today.

Weeks may elapse, officials indicated today, before the corporation will begin making loans to finance farmers in exporting their produce now bringing low prices in the United States.

Approximately $650,000,000 is the limit that now could be loaned to finance exports, it was explained. This is because there is now $350,000,000 outstanding in loans for foreign trade.

The loan, created by the corporation, provides no more than one billion dollars can be outstanding in export loans at one time. Before loans beyond this can be made, money must be obtained through sale of bonds of the corporation. The corporation now has on hand $400,000,000. But this, it was explained, is a book credit in the treasury department, and it involves the borrowing of money by the treasury before it could be paid. Such a course, treasury officials said, is not to be considered.

ELECTRICALLY HEATED GARMENTS SAVED AIRMEN

JAMES B. KELLY,

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

(Copyright 1921 by United Press)

Mattice, Ont., Jan. 5.—Electrically heated garments preserved the lives of the American airmen lost in the Canadian wilds when they blundered through the snow and ice seeking help after their balloon descended near Moose Factory, according to an Indian arriving here today.

The Americans, battling their way back to civilization with dog sleds, are still a four or five days drive from this hamlet with a population of 47 men and two women. The weather is mild with a light snow.

The story of the fight for life made by the Americans, Lieutenants Walter Hinton, Stephen A. Farrell and A. L. Kloor was told to me by George W. McLeod, the Indian foreman of the Hudson Bay post at Moose Factory, near which settlement the balloonists came down Dec. 14, after a flight from New York. McLeod is the man who brought the first word that the Americans were safe, driving a dog team two hundred miles to announce their arrival at Moose Factory and file Hinton's telegram to the naval authorities.

The men had no idea of their location, having been lost two days, McLeod said.

They thought they were still over New York state. Their gas bag kept sagging toward the earth and from time to time they dropped suddenly out of the clouds toward the snow-covered ground.

Bake Your Own Bread Advice to Housewives

(By United Press)

Chicago, Jan. 5.—"Let the good old-fashioned housewife buy an old-fashioned barrel of flour and bake a good old-fashioned batch of bread," declared L. L. Winters, a director of the Chicago Board of Trade, in reply to the statement that "the price of bread is about the only article of food that has not declined."

"During the war an accentuated demand for bakers' bread sprang up, partly because of baker was more expert in making an edible loaf from mixtures. The housewife has continued buying bakers' bread, because it is easier. The baker contends that while ingredients have declined, labor is higher than ever."

"A general movement on the part of the housewife to lay in a supply of cheap flour now would materially help to stabilize the price of the farmers' wheat, besides strengthening the consumer's purse."

"In home bread making the labor cost is small, the bread is more wholesome and the necessity of paying 18 cents for bakers' mixed bread is eliminated."

Mr. Koering will buy as usual largely from the farmers and thus is the means of bringing much trade to Brainerd. Some improvements have been made in the market, the front having been straightened out and thus adding to floor space. John Welliver is employed as an assistant at the shop.

The winter of 1920-1921 continues to pile up honors as being one of the most moderate and banana-belt kind in local history and even the old-timers can find nothing in ancient lore to equal it. Snakes are running around with impunity, robins and blackbirds are piping their respective lays, rainbows blossom out of a winter sky, pussywillows are pushing their saucy heads through what little snow there is and cars are running all the year around. The only man who looks glum is the individual who sells coal and wood. Some people are even so nery as to continue wearing the summer kind. It's great to live in Minnesota and it's a whole lot cheaper than making a trip to California, Washington or Florida.

BOARDING HOME FOR BABIES

Institution in England Had Its Inception in the Shortage of Houses and Housemaids.

A small private hotel for babies is the latest idea of domestic life. The baby gets a change and the mother gets a rest.

The baby's hotel or boarding house is the product of the shortage of houses and nursemaids. Parents have been forced into hotels and furnished apartments, and as many hotels have not the conveniences of the nursery, the baby's hotel, where he or she may be received as a paying guest, is making its appearance. There is, of course, accommodation for the baby carriage.

Two certified nurses conceived the idea. They have established a nursery in Hampstead, London. The walls are decorated with ducks and chickens, and each little guest has a white cot with curtains. A medical man and a dentist are in attendance. The tariff is about $13 a week. The little guests may stay a week, a year, or merely for the week end, while their parents go house hunting or holiday making. "A young war widow, who has resumed her former post as secretary, brought her baby to the nursery, and Saturday afternoon and Sunday they spend happy hours together, while another woman left her little one in our charge while she rejoined her husband in the tropics."—Continental News.

For European Children.

Italy and neighboring countries, especially Switzerland, at the end of October held at Milan a conference on child welfare to discuss, more specifically, seaside and country homes for needy children, placement of children in foreign countries; vacation camps; also provision of institutional care in cities; state, local and international organization of child welfare; better training of social workers engaged in child welfare service, and improvement of technique generally. The public welfare department of the city of Milan, which called this conference, is especially concerned over the duplication of efforts, the lack of proper care in the smaller communities and interaction between town and country. One definite aim is that of making international co-operation in this field a means of encouraging closer relationship between the peoples.

of the animals. Two men who tried to get down the river just at the time of the first ice were held up for three hours by a multitude of caribou which were crossing the river below them. How long the migration had been going on when they were stopped they did not know. The stream of animals blackened the water on a space one-half mile wide and continued uninterruptedly during the period the men were held up.

Egypt to Have Finest Hospital.

The Egyptian government has decided to build what is officially described as "the finest and most complete medical school and hospital in the world," in Cairo. It is to contain 1,225 beds, and will have accommodation for 3,000 out-patients a day. Attached will be a completely equipped medical school, which will be connected with the projected university, a special dental department, and departments for every branch of medical and surgical science.

SUGAR PRICES DOWN TO STAY

GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES SAY THE DAY OF PROFITEER AND SPECULATOR IS PAST.

SHORTAGE WAS NOT GENUINE

Supply Now on Hand is Larger Than
It Ever Was, and This Year's Crop
Will Be Unprecedented in Size—
No Bank Credits to Sugar Hoarders.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.
Washington.—The government authorities believe that low prices for sugar are here to stay. This opinion is reached by both the department of justice and the agricultural department, after each has made its own investigation. The authorities express the view that the profiteer and the speculator have had their day, and that the law of supply and demand will get back to work.

There is also general agreement that there was but little excuse for the hysteria over sugar during the last year, and there is further agreement that prices never should have gone as high as they did go. It is asserted that there has always been a sufficient supply of sugar; that the speculators, and the general belief that there was a short crop, were largely responsible for the shortage, which actually prevailed so far as the retail dealers were concerned.

The failure of the federal government to buy last year's sugar crop and the dissolution of the United States sugar equalization board resulted, it is asserted, in speculators bidding against each other for the Cuban crop. Men with a speculative turn of mind who had never given a thought to sugar, except at the table for their tea or coffee, began dabbling in the market. They sent their representatives to Cuba and purchased direct from the planters. Then they arranged with the refiners to refine the raw product, paying so much a pound for the refining, the title to the sugar always remaining with the speculators.

As a result of all this there was created a fictitious and panicky situation. The American consumer, as usual, was the sufferer. He paid the price for this sort of business.

It is insisted by the government authorities that there is only one way the price of sugar can be held up, and that is for the speculator to obtain another stranglehold. There seems to be small probability of the speculators again getting the upper hand.

The crop reporting board of the department of agriculture has just completed an investigation as to the stocks of sugar on hand in the various states. The board says that this inquiry shows "there is a larger supply of sugar on hand today than ever in the history of the country."

Reports from Cuba, Hawaii and elsewhere show that their crops, plus the home crop of beet and cane sugar, break all records. According to the crop reporting board, the present sugar supply is 15 per cent greater than ever before.

Record-breaking prices have stimulated sugar planting with the result that more acreage is devoted to the crop to be harvested this fall and winter than ever before. The department of agriculture forecasts 8,920,000 tons of beet sugar for the United States this year against 1919 production of 8,421,000 tons, an estimated increase of 2,500,000 tons in the United States alone.

Cane sugar producers also have increased this acreage from 481,000 last year to 553,500 this year.

Louisiana's Huge Crop.
The Louisiana crop is now estimated at 856,000,000 pounds of sugar for 1920 against 242,000,000 pounds for 1919. Cuban planters have doubled their acreage since the war, the department of agriculture is informed. European production is also being increased, especially in Belgium and in Austria.

So it appears that housewives' troubles over sugar are about to come to an end.

After the department of justice had failed to bring down the price of sugar and had also failed to punish any of the profiteers in sugar, the federal reserve board took a hand and actually accomplished something. What it did was to serve notice on banks that are members of the federal reserve system that they should no longer extend credit to persons who had bought up large quantities of sugar and had placed it in storage. The effect of denying credit to the speculators was to release immense quantities of sugar. The price immediately began to go down, and for more than a month has continued to drop.

Some of the men who had immense quantities of sugar in storage when the price began to go down as the result of government interference have suggested that the federal government should reimburse them for their losses. The general run of comment here at the capital is that speculators should feel that they are fortunate in escaping punishment.

PARIS DANGEROUS FOR PEDESTRIANS

(United Press)

Paris, Jan. 5.—Again Paris has vindicated her reputation as the most dangerous city in the world for the pedestrian.

Fifty thousand persons were struck down by taxicabs, automobiles and other automobiles on the streets of Paris during this last year, according to statistics just compiled. Of these, 100 died. Fourteen thousand received injuries which necessitated hospital treatment over an extended period, some being crippled for life. The balance suffered bruises and lacerations.

A large proportion were women and children and aged persons. Among the latter was a former minister of justice, Louis Neal, member of Clemenceau's cabinet, who was killed by an American Army Graves Registration car in front of Hotel Continental.

These figures place the famous pleasure capital well above any other city in the world in traffic deadliness, according to authorities here.

It is more dangerous to cross the Place de l'Opera or the Rue Lafayette at its intersection with Chaussee d'Antin or Place Vendome or Place Concorde than to stroll for hours on the boulevards and streets of Petrograd or Moscow in Soviet Russia.

Paris high casualty percentage is ascribed both to the speed at which vehicles are allowed to run in crowded sections of the city and to defective police regulation of traffic.

W. L. George in America.

W. L. George, recently arrived, says New York is a terrible town, according to "Round London Town" in Harper's Bazar.

It gives the innocent Englishman the feeling that he has been posted like a letter, for he finds himself violently sorted under his initial by the steamer officials, stamped by the customs, bagged into a taxi by the porter, re-bagged, restamped by a reception clerk, retagged by the liftman, and when he at last gasps upon a bed which the elevated causes to vibrate, the New York press opens him for interviews, as a pearl-fisher searches the reluctant oyster for gems of possibly lesser price. Then the stranger broods on London town, where everything jogs along so nicely in an Eighteenth century way.

BOWLING SCORES MADE ON MONDAY

At the Cocks bowling alleys last Monday night a new high record was made when Fred C. Cook and L. O. Kelsven played the merry-go-round together and piled up a score of 1266.

Both players played unusually well, consistent and even. Kelsven had 2 errors, four splits and 20 strikes in the three games. Cook also got away with 20 strikes and didn't have an error in the three games. The scores were:

Kelsven.....213 225 193—631
Cook.....199 205 231—635

Total.....412 430 424—1266

This exceptionally high record shattered the former high record of 1220 made by Cook and Sasser in the merry-go-round event on Dec. 24.

NATURE PROVIDES THE INGREDIENTS

Argo-Phosphate, the New Herbal Remedy Now Endorsed by Local People

If the digestive organs are not properly performing their work, then nature has assigned to them, then nutrition, which is absolutely essential to the recovery of other diseased parts, will be lacking and there can be no permanent relief. When bodily nutrition is normal, the stomach digests the food, the blood absorbs and carries the nourishment to the different parts of the body, causing the various organs to properly perform their functions.

Nature has provided a remedy in the ingredients of Argo-Phosphate, the new herbal stomach remedy, which is now being introduced here. It is purely vegetable and its vitalizing, corrective and reconstructive qualities are so pronounced that beneficial results are noticed from the first day. That this is true, it is only necessary to listen to the statements made daily by local people who have given Argo-Phosphate a fair trial and have been benefited thereby.

It is dispensed by H. P. Dunn.

The Liniment that Never Fails

Unless Liniment accomplishes its full required purpose of what value is that Liniment? Aches and pains located near the skin surface may be easily reached with almost any good penetrating rub, but for the deep seated pains in the bones, in the joints, in the back, in the chest, it takes a powerful liniment indeed to reach the seat of trouble, remove the cause, and thus ease the distress. We offer a liniment of unusual penetrating power, and of extreme value in the relief of all aches and pains no matter where located.

TRADE MARK

Farm Tractor

The Fordson cuts the cost of preparing land almost to half of what it cost with horses. But even more important is the fact that the Fordson saves from thirty to fifty percent of the farmer's time. And time saved—getting fields in shape to plant in the proper season; getting things done when they should be done—means money to the farmer. Besides it helps greatly in solving the labor problem.

As ever, the machine way is proving more efficient, faster, easier than the old hand way. In the factory, the machine increases production, saves labor—produces more at less cost. And that is what the Fordson does on the farm. The Fordson way is the machine way of farming. Besides it helps the labor problem.

The Fordson's first cost is low; and the after or operating cost is low. It is a compact, easily handled tractor, backed by the greatest tractor service organization in the world.

We are Fordson dealers. Not only do we sell Fordson tractors, but we carry a stock of Fordson parts and employ Fordson mechanics to help the farmers get the best results from the Fordson. Let us demonstrate the Fordson on your own farm.

A START AT DISARMAMENT

The way to disarm, as a practical New York paper remarks, is to disarm. The way to cut down the cost of armament is to cut down the cost of armament not in the definite future but in the living present.

Great Britain has adopted this simple, practical policy, making an immediate cut of 50 per cent in its army and navy budgets for next year. This move is precisely in line with Senator Borah's plan for a 50 per cent reduction in new naval construction for the next five years by a triple agreement on the part of America, Great Britain and Japan.

There is every indication that Britain would gladly extend this economical policy to cover the proposed five-year period. Utterances in Japan suggest that that country would welcome a similar move, if Japanese statesmen were persuaded that they could take it safely. They are simply afraid of American armament. Everything hinges on the United States. Our government can determine the armament policy of these three powers and then by inevitable consequence the policy of the other big powers and all the little ones.

Such work as this was expected of the League of Nations. The League has felt it useless to take up the disarmament question without the cooperation of the United States. Whether or not this country is going to join the League, there is no need to wait.

The main thing is to make a start at disarmament, and the United States can make that start now, without any danger to itself, thereby easing the burden of the whole world and saving itself a heap of money.

SORRY TO SEE M. WEISS GO.

(Minneapolis Journal)

A. C. Weiss, who has sold the Duluth Herald after thirty years of unremitting service to his community, to the state and to the northwest, explains that he is going to retire into some business less strenuous than the publication of a daily newspaper.

No one can well blame him for determining to shift the burden to other shoulders, especially such capable ones as those of Messrs. Hanson and Block, but all the same he will be greatly missed as an active journalistic force.

In the course of his long service he has left his impress upon the affairs of Duluth and Minnesota. He has been an influential factor in all manner of activities. He has with consistent regularity ranged himself and his newspaper on the right side of most public questions.

The retirement of Mr. Weiss is sincerely regretted, we feel sure, in every one of the many circles upon which his activities impinged.

A New York judge handed down a verdict that "a wife does not have to work." What does he mean, work? Real work in a school room or office for six to eight hours a day, or just loafing on the job at home the way mother does, for about eighteen?

DIPLOMATS FROM THE NEW NATIONS

OUR GOVERNMENT OBLIGED TO ISSUE ENLARGED INDEX TO BOOK OF PERSONNEL.

EVEN LUXEMBURG SENDS MAN

Czecho-Slovaks and Jugo-Slavs Also Are Represented—Staff of the Japanese Embassy Is Largest, With Great Britain Second.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—The United States government has been obliged to issue an enlarged index to the book of the personnel of the embassies and legations which foreign governments maintain in the capital city. New countries have been born of the world in its throes, and some of them today are represented by ministers to the seat of the American government.

Even the duchy of Luxemburg has a representative in Washington. He is not called a minister, but is simply a charge d'affaires. It is likely that a minister will be appointed later, although perhaps as a duchy, Luxemburg is not entitled to a diplomat of the ministerial rank.

Everybody probably will remember what happened to the duchy at the outbreak of the war. The princess, or duchess, whichever she was, the reigning personage of Luxemburg, made a pretense of protesting against the German armies entering her territory. She drove her automobile on to a bridge when the vanguard of the German forces appeared, had it turned crosswise on the bridge, and said some words which being interpreted meant a feeble "Thou Shalt Not Pass." The German army did pass, however, and Luxemburg was occupied by the Germans during the war, but they did not lay it waste as they did Belgium which fought against the invader.

From the Czechs and Slavs.

Czecho-Slovakia is now represented in Washington. The counselor of legation and charge d'affaires ad interim is Mr. Karel Hulla. He has with him four officials, a military attaché, an assistant military attaché, a secretary of legation, and just a plain attaché whose duties are not detailed in the booklet of the diplomats.

The Serbs, Croats and Slovenes are represented in Washington by an envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, Dr. Slavko Y. Grouitch. Madame Grouitch, who is here with her husband, is a West Virginia girl. Her maiden name was Mabel Shinn. Several of the representatives of foreign governments in the United States have American wives.

Russia is represented in Washington by an ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary, Mr. Boris Bakunetoff. This appointment was made July 5, 1917, prior to the time that the present regime took hold in Russia. There is some uncertainty today as to just what the relations are between the Russian embassy and the home government. However, the ambassador is here and with him is a considerable staff.

Japan's Staff the Largest.

The Japanese embassy, of which Baron Kijuro Shidehara is the chief, has a larger staff than any other embassy or legation in the City of Washington. It consists of eighteen members. It has military and naval attachés, a counselor, several secretaries and assistant secretaries, and five attaches the nature of whose duties is not announced in the booklet.

Great Britain is represented in its chief diplomatic position by the Right Honorable Sir Auckland Geddes, K. C. B., ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary. Geddes succeeded Viscount Gray who was appointed temporarily as an ambassador following the death of Sir Arthur Cecil Spring-Rice, who represented his government in Washington during the greater part of the war. Great Britain, next to Japan, has the largest embassy staff in the city of Washington. There are seventeen members of it all told, and a large number of them are accompanied by their wives.

Resurrected Belgium today is represented in Washington by Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary. Belgium not long ago was raised to the ambassadorial rank by the action of its home government. The present ambassador from Belgium was not accredited to this country until last May. When the war broke out and Belgium was invaded after the Germans had torn up the scrap of paper, the Belgian minister to this country was M. Havenith who is now living in Paris, occupying some official position to which he is accredited by his home government.

Poland now has representation here as an independent nation. The envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Poland is Prince Casimir Lubomirski. The consular of the legation is Francis Pulaski, who is accompanied by his wife.

The German embassy on Massachusetts avenue is still perched silent and deserted on its commanding terrace. When it will be opened, nobody knows, but it cannot be occupied until peace definitely is fixed between this country and the country with which it fought in the Argonne forest and elsewhere on the soil of France.

"THE LAST LOVE COUNTS"

Bestowal of First Affections Nothing but Effervescence, According to an Accepted English Theory.

"No love like the first love," runs the old adage. Is that true? The suggestion, of course, is that the first time a man or maid loves they are experiencing something which they will never experience again. First love is supposed to hold some quality which is absent from other loves. It is the substance; other, and later, loves are but pale shadows.

In a sense, it is true that first love holds something which is absent from other loves. But, after all, none would contend that we can love but once. We can love half a dozen times, and be in earnest each time. Maturity, too, is essential to the thorough enjoyment of love. Our feelings, our capacity to give and receive, deepen and expand with the years.

At say seventeen, a maid may love, but her personality, temperament and character are undeveloped. She cannot love in full measure; nor be able to absorb a full measure of love. Seven years later she could love again, and a torrent would come instead of a stream.

Put shortly, personal maturity is essential to perfect, full-measure love. First, second or third loves are often but surface loves. They don't come from the depths.

It would be admitted that all our other feelings widen and deepen as a result of years and experience, or of experience only. It is the same with love.

Hence, the later the love, the better and more lasting it is. It is full-bodied, and strong. In ninety cases out of a hundred this belated "first love" is, despite its felicitousness, not love at all!

Is not time the supreme test of love? And how many boy and girl marriages, based on first love, are happy, or the union permanent? Very few!

On the other hand, late marriages between those who have had other loves are the happiest of all.

It's the last love that counts!

Those "first loves" are but effervescences, and have nothing behind them. Love, real love, lasting love, strong love, must have character entwined in it. And whose character, at twenty, is fully formed?

So, then, hunker not to be a first love. Be glad to give, and take, the later and better stuff. It wears.—From Answers, London.

Loon Killed an Indian.

In Hertfordshire, England, the other day, a boy who foolishly went to look at a swan's nest was tackled by the cock bird and had an arm broken. The swan fights with its wings, and can deal a most tremendous blow. The gander will put up a good fight, if cornered, but he is more of a bluffer than the swan. He delights in chasing anyone who will run away from him, but turn on him with a stick, and it is he who does the running. The cause tribe use their long and powerful beaks as daggers, and are really dangerous, if wounded. They invariably strike at the eye of their opponent. A few years ago, an Indian who shot a loon on the Great Slave lake, and went to pick it up, was killed outright by the bird, which drove its spear-shaped beak right into his brain. Owls will sometimes attack human beings, but it seems probable that this is not intentional. It is rather that they mistake people's heads or hats for rats or other prey. There is an amusing account of some lumber men who dazed not venture out at night on account of some unseen enemy robbing them of their fur caps. They thought it was the Evil One and were mightily relieved to find that the robber was merely a large brown owl.

Perhaps He Might Be Saved.

I know a young fellow who is bound to be a capitalist. Why not put him in jail now, before he is able to carry out his schemes?

I have known this young man since he was a worthless boy, says a writer in E. W. Howe's Monthly. His own father had no confidence in him. The boy's principal fault was laziness and shiftlessness. A wholesale merchant took a liking to him (probably the merchant had been a worthless boy) and gave him a job at $6 a week. Today he is a traveling salesman earning $6,000 a year. In July last he sold more goods than any other salesman employed by the firm ever sold in a similar length of time. He is reliable, industrious, sober, has a wife and baby and is bound to become a capitalist unless his career is checked. Why not put him in jail now and keep him there, and thus prevent the unhappiness he will cause if permitted to keep up his present pace 15 or 20 years?

At the Lyceum Today and Tomorrow

Norma Talmadge, famed beauty of the screen, is coming to the Lyceum theatre today and Thursday in her latest Select special, "She Loves and Lies," a comedy drama founded on Wilkie Collins' story of the same name.

In this play, Miss Talmadge portrays two sides of the well known eternal triangle, being her own rival for the affections of her husband. Miss Talmadge as Marie Callender finds herself wed to a certain Mr. Lismore, whom she marries in a philanthropic mood, to help him tide over some financial worries. It is purely a marriage of convenience, but as time passes Marie finds the "marriage of convenience" extremely dull; whereupon she searches for a method of winning her husband's love. The plan she eventually hits upon is unique to say the least. Realizing that she cannot flirt with him at home under the circumstances, she goes elsewhere, becomes someone else, and sets out to win him.

Greenwich Village, the celebrated habitat of the folks whom Irvin S. Cobb has nicknamed the "Hobohemians" is the site of much of the action in the play.

Chiropractic For Bronchitis

At this time of the year hundreds of people are troubled with bronchitis, either in a chronic or acute form. When the Chiropractor is called in, he, by means of nerve tracing, a mode of physical examination used by Chiropractors only, traces a tenderness from the place of impingement (pinching) at the spine to the region over the bronchial tubes. This assists him in locating the exact cause of the disease. When this is adjusted and the pinching relieved, the result is health and normal function of respiratory organs. Numerous cases of bronchitis have completely recovered under Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments, while chronic cases will require a longer time, depending on the severity of the case, the length of its standing, and the responsiveness of the patient's vitality.

CITY WATER ALL FROM SPRINGS NOW

Consulting Engineer L. P. Wolf of St. Paul in Conference With Water and Light Board

NEW ARRANGEMENT IN EFFECT

The Old System of Pumping from the Mississippi River Will Be Discontinued

Whereas for some time Brainerd has been given a day diet of spring water from city wells pumped from the south side of town, and a night diet of river water pumped from the Mississippi at the old pumping station of the north side, commencing Wednesday the town goes on a straight menu of all spring water 24 hours of the day.

This announcement, made by Secretary W. D. McKay, followed the official visit of L. P. Wolf of St. Paul, consulting engineer of the water and light board.

For the first time since the foundation of Brainerd, the municipality is now clear from a river connection, and it marks a stage in city affairs which will do much toward improving the health of its people as good water is one of the first requisites of civilization. True, the Mississippi was good in some ways, but as a fluid for drinking it was not safe unless chemically treated and the large proportion of Brainerd did not drink it, but paid extra money for spring water sold about the city.

Mrs. Sophie Moberg, age 85, one of the oldest residents of Brainerd, passed away at the home of Mrs. Victor Hendrickson of Round Lake, who for some years has taken care of her. She has a daughter in North Yakima, Wash.

Mrs. Moberg settled in Brainerd when it was only a tented city nestling on the frontier and the heavy timber line. Her funeral was held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the B. C. McNamara chapel, Rev. Eloy G. Carlson officiating.

BRAINERD'S OLDEST STORIES TODAY

A restaurant called up the water and light board offices and said its water meter was registering 10,000 gallons in 10 days.

"You must be selling a lot of coffee," said one of the employees.

A hard luck story is told by one of Brainerd's well known citizens. He and the family spent the holidays out of town and while there he was hurt in an accident. Arriving home and wishing to use his car, as such a vehicle became a necessity in order for him to move about, the blamed thing would not move and it was found the battery had frozen solid.

A front street merchant who has cold feet uses an electric pad to warm them up. Of course, he sleeps in a twin bed. The other morning near 3 o'clock he smelled something burning and hiked to the basement, as he thought the heating plant had started, something. The plant had an alkali so far as trouble was concerned and he went to bed. He poked his foot down where the foot warmer was supposed to be operating and poked the pedal extremities into a blaze in mattress and bed clothes. The foot warmer had warmed all too well.

Trommald Village Expects Large Growth of Population When Spring Rush Sets In

Henry Ford, the auto magnate, has been on the Cuyuna iron range and examining properties with a view of their acquisition to furnish iron ore for his Ford factories. His negotiations have been conducted quietly. Mr. Ford has already acquired large holdings in Michigan and may add Cuyuna range lands.

The statement of Ford's visits was made by Edward R. Syverson, of St. Paul, who has large interests at Trommald village on the range. The Marquette mine there is making many improvements and other properties are being opened up. The Armour No. 1 mine, silent many years, is expected to run full blast this season. Houses will be in demand when the spring rush sets in and the village of Trommald expects to gain a large accession in population.

Mr. Syverson was one of the pioneers on the range, having first been established at Ironton and later was honored by election as the first representative to the legislature from this Cuyuna range country.

Emerson and the East.

It is interesting to find that the one art of which Emerson did have a direct understanding, the art of poetry, gave him some insight into the relation of the artist to his vehicle. In his essay on Shakespeare there is a full recognition of the debt of Shakespeare to his times. This essay is filled with the historic sense. We ought not to accuse Emerson because he lacked appreciation of the fine arts, but rather admire the truly Goethean spirit in which he insisted upon the reality of arts of which he had no understanding. This is the same spirit which led him to insist on the value of the Eastern poets. Perhaps there exist a few scholars who can tell us how far Emerson understood or misunderstood Sanli and Firdusi and the Koran. But we need not be disturbed for his learning. It is enough that he makes us recognize that those men were men, too, and that their writings mean something not unknowable to us. The East added nothing to Emerson, but gave him a few trappings of speech.—John Jay Chapman.

Stanford White's Home a Clubhouse.

The former New York home of Stanford White, noted during the architect's life as a treasure house of rare paintings and other "objets d'art," is now the clubhouse for the daughters of the countries from which those treasures came. It was recently opened by the International Institute of the New York City Y. W. C. A. as a social and educational center for foreign-born women and girls. Girls of so many nationalities meet there for English classes, dramatics, gym work, domestic arts and good times in general that neighbors in the vicinity have named it "Our Own Little League of Nations." It is one of the 62 centers for foreign-born girls maintained in various parts of the United States by the Y. W. C. A. and directed by American women and "nationality workers" who speak the European languages.

CITIZENS STATE ANNUAL ELECTION

A. G. Trommald and Associates Acquire Stock of Mrs. M. T. Dunn in the Bank

A. G. TROMMALD, IS PRESIDENT

Mons Mahlum Vice President. R. J. Tinkelpaugh Cashier—T. H. Schaefer New Director

At the annual election held by the Citizens State Bank of Brainerd, A. G. Trommald was elected president, Mons Mahlum vice president and R. J. Tinkelpaugh cashier. The directors are A. G. Trommald, Mons Mahlum, E. F. Shipp, T. H. Schaefer and R. J. Tinkelpaugh.

The interests of Mrs. M. T. Dunn have been acquired by Mr. Trommald and associates. The bank has had a prosperous year and is in first class financial condition. Its cash reserve being nearly three times the legal requirements. Its quarters have been improved and made most convenient, bright and cheery, reflecting the spirit of the banking institution which seeks to be of service to its friends and the community in general.

The Citizens State Bank building in which the bank is housed has been used for ten years and has been liberally improved. Every floor is now rented, which is one of the best records attained by any office building in the city.

BIG POWER PROJECT AT BRIDGEPORT

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 5.—This city, at present one of the smokiest, will become one of the cleanest manufacturing centers in the country of the ambitious scheme now being executed by a power company here is successful.

The plan calls for a power plant capable of generating sufficient lighting and power current for every factory in the city. "One Coal Yard in the City," is the slogan adopted by those pressing the project.

The plant, which will be 250 feet square, has been under construction for several months. At least a year will be required to complete it. The gigantic smokestack will tower 175 feet over the building. Devices for absorbing smoke will be used. Several 100,000 horsepower generators will furnish subscribers with power. It will be known as the Steel Point Power Plant.

Perhaps the most interesting feature is the method of handling fuel. It will not be touched by any human hands from delivery until what remains of it is dumped as ashes into the waters of the Sound. Barges will bring the coal to the plant. Automatic devices will dump it into the bunkers and other machinery will carry it down to the boilers are required. The barge, having discharged its fuel, will be automatically loaded with ashes, which will be dumped into the Sound, again by machinery.

Hurley L. Watkins, 2308 Lytle St., Louisville, Ky., writes: "I found Foley's Honey and Tar just what I wanted for my wife's and my colds. Coughs, colds, croup, bronchial coughs; stops that 'tickling' throat that keeps one coughing at night. Contains no opiates nor habit-forming drugs. H. P. Dunn, druggist."

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Advice of This Brainerd Woman Is of Certain Value

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains. Oftentimes 'tis the kidneys' fault. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

Many Brainerd women know this. Read what one has to say about it: Mrs. P. J. Koeppel, 409 S. Ninth St., says: "I have had considerable trouble with my kidneys and, at times, I have found it almost impossible to do my housework as my back would be so lame and painful. My kidneys acted irregularly and too frequently. I tried Doan's Kidney Pills and it was no time before I got relief. Whenever I feel my kidneys require attention, I use Doan's Kidney Pills and they always bring the desired results."

Today's Geography

LUXEMBURG REPRESENTED AT WASHINGTON

Luxemburg, latest and smallest of the countries of the world to send a diplomatic representative to the United States, has a ruler with a better popular title to her throne than perhaps any other reigning monarch.

Though the little grand duchy is smaller even than Rhode Island, it has a history reaching farther into the past than many of the great nations among which it now takes a place. It has been buffeted about like a shuttlecock by the countries that hem it in, and at one time or another during the past thousand years has been under the control of nearly every one of the principal nations of the western part of the continent.

While a part of the Holy Empire, Luxemburg furnished an emperor for the German throne. Count Henry IV of Luxemburg was elected to that position in 1308 as Henry VII. Luxemburg later came under the control of Burgundy and then fell successively to Spain, Austria and the first French republic. It remained under the sovereignty of the king of the Netherlands from 1815 to the accession of Queen Wilhelmina in 1890, when the existence of the Sallé law—that anti-feminist outburst of the old warrior Franks—brought the grand duke of Nassau to the throne.

Even while the king of the Netherlands was sovereign of Luxemburg, it was a member of the German confederation, with the city of Luxemburg garrisoned by Prussian soldiers. Retention of this garrison in the city after the division of old Luxemburg between Holland and Belgium in 1831, and especially after the dissolution of the German confederation in 1866, almost caused the Franco-Prussian war to start three years ahead of time. The matter was compromised by an agreement for the withdrawal of the German troops, and the demolition of the fortifications of the city of Luxemburg, so strong that the fortress was known as "the Gibraltar of the North." In addition the grand duchy was set up as an independent state with its neutrality guaranteed, like that of Belgium, by the powers. This guarantee was one of the "scraps of paper" of 1914.

During the World War Luxemburg was practically a prisoner to Germany, but because the inhabitants did not resist, the Germans treated them with a certain degree of consideration. The sympathies of the people were with France, however, and several thousand Luxemburgians served with the tricolor. This popular sympathy for France and the belief that the reigning Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide, had pro-German leanings made her unpopular. After the armistice brought about the retirement of the Germans, a bloodless revolution broke out, and Luxemburg added another to its long list of sovereignties by being a republic for a few brief hours. Conservative elements brought about the abdication of the grand duchess in favor of her sister Charlotte, the present ruler, and by liberalizing the constitution. Marie Adelaide has entered a convent and become a Carmelite nun.

BRUSSELS: CAPITAL CITY OF THE LAND OF THE LOOM

Brussels, conspicuous during the war, again became a center of world attention with the meeting there of the international financial congress.

Brussels' fame rests partly on popular misapprehensions.

Its name is linked with a carpet that is not made there, and also with a cathedral which, properly speaking, is not a cathedral at all but a church—that of St. Gudule.

But even after deducting this much from Brussels' credit, enough remains to give it a foremost place among world capitals. Were the romantic adventures of the city cast into a "movie" scenario, the title might accurately be "From Swamp Dwelling to Petit Paris."

The seventh century village on the Senne, near the center of what now is Belgium, was called Brussels, literally "swamp dwelling," with descriptive intent. The genius of a people for making much of meager physical circumstances fully warrants the nickname often given the modern city of parks, boulevards, art galleries and a famous university.

Suffering was no new experience for Brussels. More than three centuries earlier its great square had seen Count Egmont and Count Horn walk to the scaffold, as the former recited the fifty-first Psalm, and a little later both heads were displayed to the assembled multitude on iron spikes. More gruesome still, both heads finally were boxed and sent to Philip II of Spain so that latter-day Herod might exult at another victory over his northern subjects.

Though the Brussels carpet of modern times is not made in Belgium, Brussels was paid a deserved tribute in its naming, for when it first was manufactured at Wilton, England, the product was patterned after the tapestries for which Brussels was famous for centuries.

In addition to its weaving Brussels gained renown for its lacemaking, and its needle-made laces still find their way all over the civilized world, including a considerable quantity to the United States. The feminine culture of feudal times sought to express in the delicate designs of filmy fabric what men wrought in the lace-like architecture of its cathedrals.

MEXICO CITY: THE ROME OF THE AMERICAS

"In all the world one cannot find a more remarkable capital than Mexico City," says William Joseph Shoveller, in a communication to the National Geographic society.

"Situated in a valley whose floor is a mile and a half above the level of the sea, and whose borders are surrounded by towering mountains; located where the beautiful volcanoes, Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl, rear snow-capped heads above the plain and stand eternal guard over it, its situation is one of rare beauty and grandeur. Its climate is mild, the temperature ranging from 35 to 70 degrees, with a mean of 65 degrees. No man sleeps without a blanket in Mexico City, nor needs an overcoat at midday.

"Prior to the conquest the lakes of the Mexican valley were extensive and the barges of the Aztecs sailed uninterruptedly from the gates of Chapultepec to Ixtapalapa. A large number of canals intersected the ancient metropolis of Tenochtitlan and connected with the lakes in the suburbs, making it a sort of new world Venice.

"In 1607 the celebrated Portuguese engineer Martinez undertook to drain the Valley of Mexico by cutting a canal through the mountains. The work, however, was largely a failure, since it drained only one small lake and an unimportant river, leaving lakes Texcoco and Chalco still perpetual menaces to the city.

"In 1879 a huge drainage canal 30 miles long was begun, which was completed in 1900, at a cost of about $8,000,000, American gold. Its completion removed the danger of inundations from Mexico City and solved the problem which occupied the thoughts and engendered the fears of the Aztecs as far back as 1440.

"Mexico City is the most complete mixture of the ancient and the modern to be found in the new world. The old city might date anywhere from the tenth century, from its appearance. The new city is ultra modern, and you step from the sixteenth to the twentieth century by walking across the street.

"The parade ground of Mexico City is the Avenida de San Francisco. This short street extends from the Mexican White House to the Alameda, and is only about 24 feet from curb to curb. Here, at the approach of twilight, every smart equipage in the capital comes. Down the one side of the street and up the other side moves the procession at a slow walk, while everybody looks at everybody else.

"As Avenida de San Francisco unites the old and the new cities, so does the Cinco de Mayo (Fifth of May) unite the cathedral, stateliest of all the religious edifices on the continent, with the National theater, which was planned to be the most beautiful of all the amusement places in America. The Cinco de Mayo is the Wall street of Mexico, and the buildings which line it are modern in every respect.

"The Paseo de la Reforma, extending from Chapultepec to the Avenida de Juarez, a short avenue connecting the Paseo with Avenida de San Francisco, is one of the finest driveways of the world.

"The national pawnshop is one of the unique institutions of the capital. It was founded by Pedro Jose Romero de Terreros."

HOW GEOGRAPHY SHAPES ITALY'S DESTINY

Italy's peculiar geographic position always has been one of the chief sources of the country's remarkable individuality—an individuality marked by its political and economic course since the armistice was signed. Arthur Stanley Riggs, writing to the National Geographic society in this regard, says:

"From the beginning Nature set Italy apart. Every boundary is perfectly clear. The historic sea enfolds it to the south, east and west. On the north the terrific Alps sweep around it in a great semicircle from Mediterranean to Adriatic, closing the circuit.

"To be sure, from the time of Augustus the boundary of each side of northern Italy has been juggled, now to the east, now to the west, by politics; but the physical boundary is still definitely there. So thoroughly did the ancient chroniclers recognize these natural limits that long before the name of Italy had any political significance or entity the writers applied it to the country thus inclosed. The peninsula, with its tremendous Apennine backbone, makes a huge boot which thrusts out practically into the center of the great midland sea.

Necessarily, then, Italy was exposed to attack and invasion from three sides. Indeed, it was the invading, or rather colonizing, Greek who combined with the aborigine to form the population that stocked the peninsula. Taken in a smaller way, geographical site or position exercised no less distinct an effect upon some of the foremost Italian cities; and in shaping their affairs and men it also influenced the entire world.

"After forming this basin—northern Italy—the Apennines sweep southward in a rugged backbone which determines the whole internal geography of the country as definitely as the Alps do its outline northward.

"In central Italy, west of the mountains, the valleys of the Arno and the Tiber—the only streams of importance—give the keynote to any geographic study of the region. Over on the eastern coast no rivers of importance can exist, because the mountains there approach too close to the sea, though the tortuous, mostly dry beds of the 'torrenti' scar every height.

"In this connection it is interesting to note that nowhere is the peninsula more than 150 miles wide, and generally not more than 100, while down in Calabria the width dwindles in two places to 35 and 20 miles respectively. One of the most inspiring views in the whole length of the country also displays this narrowness strikingly when, on a clear day, from the Gran Sasso, the highest point in the bleak Abruzzi range, central Italy, at nearly 10,000 feet, one may look not only eastward over the Adriatic to far Dalmatia's rocky shores, but also westward over the mountain and moor, city and sandy coast, to the dim and misty blue of the Tyrrhenian sea. In volcanic southern Italy, likewise barren of any great waterways, the Apennines break up into groups of hills and peaks, not usually so lofty as farther northward.

"As in the case of Japan, the surrounding sea makes a vast difference in the Italian climate. Judged by its position alone, the peninsula should be about the hottest part of Europe—it is only 90 miles from the southern shore of Sicily to Africa. But the twin seas and the ever snow-capped mountains temper the heat, and the regional peculiarities are such that we find Turin, for instance, colder in winter than Copenhagen, and Milan as warm in summer as Naples."

A VOLCANIC BARNUM AND BAILEY

Young America will drop anything to run to a fire. In some parts of the world—Hawaii, for example—one also drops everything to run to a volcano eruption, unless he already is too close for comfort. Then he runs from it.

Have you ever wondered what a volcano, in action, looks like? Here is a description, not by a scientist, but by a young Washington woman who went to Hawaii to live just before Mauna Loa's terrific eruption last year:

"It seems as if Hawaii, though small, must have just so much attention, and so ever so often she explosively projects herself into the arena of the world's happenings," wrote Mrs. Shirley Foster Allen. "Not content with her share in the 'Big Show' in Europe, she decided to stage a first-class side show all her own—and the two volcanoes, Mauna Loa and Kilauea, have certainly done their best to make it the 'biggest show on earth.'"

"Just a word about the geography of the place. In the first place so many people seem to think the word 'Honolulu' embraces all there is to the islands; and in the second place, the general conception seems to be that the volcano is located in Honolulu's back yard, as it were, and that we Honoluluans take our daily exercise by running up to the crater every morning before breakfast. Honolulu is located on the Island of Oahu, third island in size in the group, while the volcano, or rather volcanoes, are located on Hawaii, the largest and youngest island, with an area of more than 4,000 square miles, which lies nearly 200 miles southeast of Oahu.

"The first indication of volcanic activity was the presence of a peculiar cauliflower-shaped cloud hanging over the mountain. Three days later, on September 29, the whole heavens were lit up with an apricot glow when, from a huge vent in the mountain's side, a flood of molten lava was belched forth. Spreading out into a great shallow stream, it came roaring down the mountain slope, burning forests, carrying huge trees and immense boulders on its surface—sweeping everything before it. With a speed varying from one to twenty miles an hour, according to the country it was passing over, it broadened out until it was nearly a mile in width. After wiping out the government belt road, razing telephone poles and destroying a vast amount of property, the red-hot lava tumbled over a high precipice and plunged hissing into the sea.

"A number of excursions were made in October from Honolulu, and, in approaching the flow from the sea in the early evening, the glow from the lava was visible for many miles before Alika was reached.

point where the liquid rock was rushing into the sea, the scene stretching before one was awe-inspiring. Slowly the smoky haze, from the burning forests, which hung over the source 20 miles away, lifted and the river of fire stood out in its full glory, holding one speechless and spellbound. Leaping from pall to valley, rushing uphill and roaring down, the fiery flood thundered down the mountain slope, carrying on its bosom rocks as big as houses that were tossed about as if they were mere pebbles. As the stream of blazing lava neared the coastline, it appeared to gather more speed, taking a final plunge over a 100-foot cliff at a terrific rate, and looking for all the world like a fiery Niagara. As the red-hot lava came in contact with the water, great columns of steam and gas, like huge water-spouts, were forced hundreds of feet into the air. Huge boulders, hurled into space, exploded with thunderous reports into auras of red and green lights, while flashes of what looked like lightning added to the chaos."

STRONG MEN HAVE ACID STOMACH

And They Relieve It With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Instead of Senseless Diet

Consider the bulk of a big man. He needs a lot of good food. And yet a simple dish may so distress him that he will throw his entire machinery out of order by denying himself the very means of sustaining his strength. A better plan, far better, is to follow a meal with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

It aids digestion, supplies the stomach with an alkaline effect and thus prevents or relieves the distresses of gasiness, sour stomach, lumpy feeling in throat, biliousness, intestinal indigestion and other such misery due to dyspepsia. Get a 60 cent box at any drug store and be fortified, no matter what you eat or drink.

Mt. Washington 6,293 Feet High.
Many persons believe that Mount Washington, in New Hampshire, is the highest mountain in the eastern part of the United States. Mount Washington stands 6,293 feet above sea level, according to the United States geological survey, department of the interior, but many peaks in the southern Appalachians are several hundred feet higher than New Hampshire's famous mountain. The highest mountain in the Appalachian system—the highest point in the United States east of the Rockies—is Mount Mitchell, in North Carolina, which stands at an elevation of 6,711 feet. The highest mountain in Tennessee, Mount Guyot, stands 6,636 feet above sea level.

Ivory Does Not Rust.
One cold afternoon several school-boys were standing on a corner waiting for a car. A man invited them to come into his office to wait for the car. They accepted. The conversation soon turned to the color of a certain girl's hair. One insisted it was red, another that it was auburn, and another that it was brown.

At the height of the discussion two children entered the office. As soon as they understood the nature of the argument, one of the youngsters exclaimed:

"Oh, shucks! Her hair ain't red. Ivory don't rust."—Indianapolis News.

Great California Industry.
Nearly a million acres are planted to the fruit trees that supply the canneries of California, according to Elton R. Shaw in an article in the Old Colony Magazine, the organ of the Old Colony club. Statistics tell us that of the 100,000,000 acres of land in the state of California, about 900,000 are devoted to fruit trees; so it is easily conceivable that the fruit-canning industry is no small part of the general industrial activities of the "Golden State."

Exercise Can Be Overdone.
There is a great deal of falsity about the assumed value of exercise in the open air, states the Medical Record. In moderation, that is within the individual limits prescribed by bodily limitations fixed by nature for each person, nothing is better. Proper exercise is as essential as food or air, but the growing boy in his excess of enthusiasm and knowing no limits to his endurance greatly oversteps his bounds in many cases and invites disaster.
